

Homecoming

Benjamin Wesley Pearce, 2004

From a distance I can see your light in colors warm and true.

I am guided by the gentle breeze that shifts from me to you.

I am drawn as inexorable as the tides into your waiting arms.

Into your sheltered cove of love that will keep me safe from harm.